

Dear Class of 2029 and transfers – welcome to Stanford!

On behalf of the Bahá'í Association at Stanford, we are so glad you're here! We look forward to getting to know each of you and the unique perspectives you bring to the Stanford community.

The Bahá'í Association at Stanford is a vibrant, outward-oriented group dedicated to cultivating spaces and connections with people of every background. We focus on spiritual growth, friendship, meaningful conversations, and service to humanity. Whether you were raised in the Bahá'í Faith, are exploring its teachings, or simply interested in interfaith dialogue and building connections, you are warmly welcomed to participate and contribute.

Throughout the year, we host gatherings such as:

- Devotional spaces for prayer, conversation and reflection.
- Study circles which explore the Bahá'í writings and build capacity for personal and social transformation.
- Social gatherings to strengthen bonds of friendship.

Along with the rest of the Bahá'í community of Northern California, we also participate in study and service retreats and other community-building activities.

To stay connected, be sure to join our WhatsApp group:

<https://chat.whatsapp.com/CaoXedVbQRv7kz3EZPQGKA>

Or reach out to either of the contacts below to be added into the text group.

We know starting at Stanford can feel overwhelming, but remember you have a community here ready to welcome you with open arms. Please don't hesitate to reach out to us with any questions about campus life, spiritual resources, or just to say hi.

Keane Haesle, (khaesle [at] stanford.edu/(219)-689-9022)

Kayla Chan (kaylahtc [at] Stanford.edu/(650)-283-6092)

We're so excited to meet you, and we can't wait to see the ways you'll enrich the Stanford community.

With love and warmest greetings,

The Stanford Bahá'í Association 